In The New Premises

inomed's Open Day dedicated to the new building took place on the 5th September in Emmendingen. The open day, attended by 2,000 visitors and blessed by loads of sunshine, was a big success and beat all expectations. Lovely weather, great interest and a wide range of culinary treats attracted many locals, clients, business partners and neighbours to our new facilities.

The new premises were celebrated by almost 100 inomed employees, ARKANA and 'Kantine' business partners and visitors.

Many guests of honour attended the event, such as Professor Yang, neurosurgeon from Wuhan, China, Dr. Neumann, ENT doctor from Halle, Professor Guido Nikkhah and other colleagues from the University Hospital Freiburg, Germany.

After the reception, some welcome words were held by Rudi Mattmueller, CEO of inomed Medizintechnik GmbH, followed by Klaus Wehrle, architect from CARRÉ company from Gutach, Christof Burger, deputy of the building societies and by Dr. C. Muenzer of WVIB.

More welcome words were held by Dr. Stefan Schlatterer, mayor of Emmendingen and by reverend Stahmann from Mundingen accompanied by the musicians Oktavia Roehl-Kniebuehler (harp) and Martje Vande-Ginste (singer).

After the official part, the company's door opened to visitors who could explore the impressive and modern architecture of the new location and the work of inomed staff.

Lectures about the development of neuromonitoring for the thyroid surgery by Prof. Dr. med. Neumann took place in the big conference room. Prof. Dr. med. Nikkhah gave an impressive insight in the possibilities and constraints of surgery 'Deep in Brain'.

Specialists as well as non-specialists were impressed by the striking presentations.

Mrs D. Palletti drew attention with her interesting discussion 'What is Feng Shui', which took place at the ARKANA centre.

A varied entertainment program and culinary treats were offered by the 'Kantine'. Guests and staff could enjoy the great food on the lovely outdoor terrace or inside in a nice ambience. In addition, snacks, cakes and coffee were served outside the building. The profit of the cake sale was donated to the hospice in Emmendingen.

The nice get-together was accompanied by the musicians Nico Pfister, Srinath Berthold and Raphi Dinger. Art and culture were provided by the juggler Johann Dalin, by goldsmiths F. Balthasar's and artist W. Berthold's exhibition. Our little guests were not missed out too, with face-painting, handicraft work and show-jumping course.

All in all, the open day was a successful and festive event thanks to the varied program, the wide range of culinary treats, loads of sunshine and the nice ambience. The outcome was acknowledged by the last guest who left the building around 11 pm.

The CEO thanks all guests for their great interest and presents and is very pleased about the warm welcome from the communal deputies and neighbours of the industrial area im Hausgruen across the Elz.
